The Gondolas at the Venetian Hotel

The Magic Of Vegas On One Street Corner

The corner of Flamingo and Las Vegas Blvd. provides some of Vegas' most iconic backdrops. Immerse yourself in the Bellagio's array of exquisite photo spots: from the vibrant, ever-evolving botanical gardens to the enchanting dance of the Bellagio Fountains, and don't miss the overhead spectacle of the Chihuly glass ceiling sculpture. The Paris Las Vegas and Caesar's Palace are both just across the street.

Eiffel Tower from a patio at Bellagio

- Begin at the Bellagio's lush Botanical Gardens, it's an ideal first snap. It can be crowded but there are several photo ops and people are usually forgiving of a happy couple taking photos.
- As you pass the reception area look up and catch a whimsical selfie with the Chihuly glass ceiling sculpture.
- Aim for sunset if you are using a smartphone. After dark, a professional's eye is needed to truly capture the magic of the fountains and the couple.
- The area in front of the fountains is often crowded so pick your spot early.
- The fountains run every 15 minutes so you have time to try different spots to get the perfect shot.
- For a grand Parisian touch, simply turn around for an Eiffel Tower photo op or snap a pic from one of the Bellagio's patio restaurants for an elevated perspective.
